Adcox, Susan. (2019). "Conflicts That Can Lead to Grandparent Estrangement" Very Well Family.

<https://www.verywellfamily.com/family-disputes-may-lead-loss-of-contact-1695435>

Annotation:

This is a peer reviewed article by Susan Adcox, who is a former writer for Very well Family, covering grandparenting. Her grandparenting expertise has appeared in numerous publications. Susan Adcox has studied at Lee College and the University of Houston-Clear Lake. The article was written in August 2009 and serves as background information for the concept of estrangement in my essay.

2.

Bowen, M. (1978). "Family therapy in clinical practice." New York: Jason Aronson.

Bowen, M. (1982). "Family therapy in clinical practice" (2nd ed.). New York: Jason Aronson.

Annotation:

This is a paper written by Murray Bowen. an American psychiatrist and a professor in psychiatry at Georgetown University. Bowen was among the pioneers of family therapy and a noted founder of systemic therapy. This paper will give an overview of Murray Bowen's theory of family systems. It will describe the model's development and outline its core clinical components. The practice of therapy will be described as well as recent developments within the model. Some key criticisms will be raised, followed by a case example which highlights the therapeutic focus of Bowen's approach. This paper is used as evidence to support my thesis.

3.

Cataldo, Mayra Alicia. "Safe Haven: Granting Support to Victims of Child Abuse Who Have Disputes Are in the Child's Best Interests", 75 Fordham L. Rev. 3137 (2007).

Annotation:

This source is a journal written by Marya Cataldo and it was published in July 2014 by the association of family and conciliation court. This journal highlights the process of emancipation and will be used as evidence to support my argument.

4.

Dolbin-MacNab, M, and Keiley M.k. 2009. "Navigating Interdependence: How Adolescents Raised Solely by Grandparents Experience Family Relationships" Family Relations 58(2): 162-75 EBSCOhost.

Annotation:

This source is a study conducted by Megan L. Dolbin-MacNab and Margaret K. Keiley. It was first published in March 2009 by the Department of Human Development and Family Studies, Auburn University. This study examined how adolescents raised solely by grandparents navigated their relationships with their parents and grandparents and how these relationships were influenced by the caregiving context. Forty-one adolescents participated in qualitative, semi structured interviews. Findings suggest that relationships with parents were primarily companionate or marked by distance and distrust. This source will be used as evidence to support my claims in the essay.

5.

Egan, Leigh. "Susan Cox Powell: Father-in-Law's Crazy Obsession with Son's Wife May Have Led to Young Mom's Disappearance & Likely Death." Crime Online, 2 May 2019, www.crimeonline.com/2019/05/02/susan-cox-powell-father-in-laws-cr

Scharp, Kristina M., and Timothy Curran. "Caregiving When There Is Family Conflict and Estrangement." Generations: Journal of the American Society on Aging, vol. 42, no. 3, 2018, pp. 51–56. JSTOR, www.jstor.org/stable/26591703. Accessed 21 July 2020.

Annotation:

This is an online journal written by Kristina Scharp and Timothy Curran. The journal notes that family conflict and estrangement can complicate caregiving tasks later in life. Research suggests that adult children who are estranged do not visit their parents when their parents are sick, despite societal pressures to reconcile and take care of them. This journal will be used as a source for background information pertaining to my claim in the paper.
